A Martin Construction Company

To Whom It May Concern:

MarCon is an award winning SBA 8(a) contractor with projects across the northwest US. We have enjoyed a long business relationship with Sloan Security Fencing. Working with Sloan since they started in business, we continue to rate them as our number one choice for fencing and gate construction contractors. Whether working with them in a joint venture or as a subcontractor, our relationship with Sloan has always been very positive and remarkably stress free.

Their work installing perimeter security fences and gates at the Nevada National Guard Facility (to become the State of Nevada's Executive Emergency Action Center) in Carson City in 2006 was a prime example of their exemplary work. Under intense scrutiny from the client (because of the new design and the sensitivity of the project), they installed an innovative heavy-duty crash-rated fence that gained kudos from the client for quality control and positive interactions with plant staff despite the intrusive nature of the project.

Their well trained staff conducts business in a highly professional manner. Communications & reporting from their field and office are well done and on time.

Safety is a primary goal for Sloan employees. Their installation techniques include the newest safety procedures while still following older standard safety rules.

Please feel free to give me a call. Sloan is truly one of the best contractors we have worked with and we would be glad to recommend them for your work.

Sincerely

Elaine Martin
